

Lots of casework!

I ran a sexual health quiz at the Community Fete. Around 150 people took the quiz on the day, with about half getting sweets and chocolate as prizes. Gave out condoms and sexual health info too.

I learnt to drive the Union minibuses!

Short but productive with Tom and Jennie to discuss promoting the General Meeting.

Arranged a meeting to plan for Disabled Students' Week... It's just been a low key few days in the past, but Laura and myself want to make it big this year!

For Know Your Rights week...

I arranged the presence of the House Doctor in the Students' Union foyer across two days. It was a bit quiet at times, but he still answered lots of housing queries. He's going to be coming back in the New Year when students are looking for properties.

I held a meeting with speakers on trade unions, industrial action and the Miners' Strike, which had 30 people there and seemed a relative success. Promoting unionisation of students has been a bit slow to get started, with lots of nagging on my part and little interest from certain Unions (Unite are dreadful), but I've made some good contacts all the same.

I organised a presentation on equality and diversity legislation and the role it plays in Higher Education. Only one non-exec member attended, but it was still nice to see lots of exec members attending what was an interesting and informative presentation.

I held a weeklong welfare rights stall in the Union foyer and organised other stalls for LGBT rights and the black students' campaign.
